Penny Day Thompson Biography

Penny Day Thompson is a self-taught watercolor artist. She hails from Long Island, NY where she taught Adult Ed. Watercolors for 8 years and then taught privately for 5 years. Her work was carried in many galleries on Long Island. Since moving here 15 years ago, she has been an active member of the LAA, has served as President for 5 years and then chaired and organized the LAA Workshops for 3 years. She also offers watercolor lessons and workshops frequently!

After moving here, she turned her attention to acrylics for a short spell but then fell in love with paper collages. She has won numerous first places in the LAA Annual Judges shows for her watercolors and paper collages. As she has found the low country and its beautiful birds and marches as her new inspiration for her art, you will find her art in many homes here on Skidaway Island.
