

DEBBIE LEECOCK

One of the LAA's most energetic members is volunteer Debbie Leacock, a New Jersey native who's called the Landings home since 2013. Her first foray into art came in the form of a fashion business she managed out of her home while raising two sons. Debbie and her husband, Tom, left the northeast in the late 1980's and began a work-related transfer odyssey that took them first to Memphis, TN. After which they moved on to Plano, TX, a Dallas suburb where she established her first interior design business.

While in Plano, Debbie, who is an avid tennis player, was recruited by the local Community College to fill a vacancy on their tennis squad. Despite being somewhat older than the rest of the team - they called her "Mom" - she went on to become a two-time JC All-American. A few years later when the family was transferred back to Memphis, Debbie attended Christian Brothers University on a full tennis scholarship, graduating with a dual major in Psychology and Business as well as being named the tennis team's MVP.

You have probably seen Debbie's spectacular work with silk flower arrangements at one of the LAA's shows. Her one-of-a-kind custom work is truly original and imaginative. She's also a gifted artist, but her true muse is in design.

Since Christmas is her favorite holiday, she shows her talents best by creating some of the island's most beautiful and elaborate Christmas decorations, including those in the Franklin Creek tennis center.

Several years ago, her creations were recognized as Best in Show at Savannah's downtown Christmas Tour of Homes.

Debbie has created unique and innovated interior designs for businesses and homes around the US for more than twenty-five years. In her spare time, she loves to play tennis, and is a member of the US Professional Tennis Association. She is also a serious golfer, and was on the organizing committee for this year's Golfing for a Cure golf tournament, which raised more than one hundred thousand dollars for Mercer College's cancer relief programs.

Over the course of the coming year, Debbie plans on starting to exhibit her artwork in the various LAA venues so keep an eye peeled. In the meantime, should you wish to consult with her on an interior or exterior design project large or small, please contact her at
