

GAYL GLOVER

The LAA is pleased and proud to introduce one of its long time members and volunteers – Gayl Glover. While she doesn't exhibit very often, when she does, her work is truly one that amazes and mystifies running the gamut from whimsy to reality. Gayl's quilted art draws the viewer in and doesn't let go!

Coming from a long line of needle arts women, she has been stitching in various media since the age of five! Gayl spent her childhood and teens learning embroidery, crewel, needlepoint and dressmaking skills from her mother and grandmothers. She designed and made many memorable articles of clothing in her youth, including much of her hippie high school wardrobe (we all remember those days), prom dresses and a wedding gown!

Gayl made her first quilt as a gift for her sister's first baby over thirty years ago. Many quilts later, she now enjoys creating original quilts and learning surface design techniques to embellish her work. An extensive collection of fabrics from around the world serves as her palette.

As a lifelong birder, Gayl's work is often inspired or informed by a love of birds and travels to find them in their native habitats.

She is also inspired by many textile arts workshops that she has attended across the years and across the United States, as well as the programs, workshops and creative ideas her quilting friends share at the Savannah Quilt Guild.

As Gayl says "When I stitch I often have grateful thoughts and memories of my mother. She taught me to sew, encouraged me to be creative, and loved brilliant colors much as I do."

Please contact Gayl at ggonstarsong@hotmail.com to inquire about an existing or custom quilted piece of her exquisite work.
